Feline Football Fanatics Picked Super Bowl Winner at Cat Adoption Team's Superbowl Pick Party Today

(Jan 24, 2009) — Some of the Cat Adoption Team's felines watched the NFL playoffs with great interest. These catty fans were cat calling across the shelter as teams fell by the wayside after the regular season.

Today, however, 4 felines at CAT decided it was time to take things into their own paws and determine once and for all which team would reign supreme on February 1. Cats can be impatient, you see, they wanted to know now who would win the Super Bowl!

Sir Thomas, Tanner, Fudgecycle, and Shamika used their superior predictive powers to choose the winner and as an outward expression of their opinion, they picked their favorite team by eating from a team color bowl.

Hunger won out in the end. Sir Thomas ran to the gold Steeler's bowl and wolfed down his pick; Tanner was thoughtful as he decided to nibble from the gold Steeler's bowl as well; and Shamika after a moment of contemplation also choose to dine from the gold Steeler's bowl. Fudgecycle was still upset that the Raven's did not make the game and turned her back on the whole affair. The results were tabulated and the winner is very clear:

The Cat Adoption Team's feline football fanatics predict that the Pittsburgh Steelers will win the 43rd annual Super Bowl held on Sunday, February 1, 2009, in Tampa Bay.

The Cat Adoption Team (CAT) is the Pacific Northwest's largest non-profit, feline-only shelter. CAT was the first animal shelter in Oregon with its own full service veterinary hospital on site. CAT's mission is to work with the community to save the lives of unwanted, homeless, sick, and injured cats and kittens by offering shelter, adoption, foster, hospice, spay/neuter, and veterinary services to end needless feline euthanasia. CAT will find homes for over 3,250 felines this year. As a 501(c)(3) publicly-supported charity, CAT relies on the generous support of the public and volunteers.
